A New Page

Reading practice at home, about 15 minutes a night.

A New Page is a reading program you do at home with your child. Your child reads the hero's lines in a real story, built only from the sounds your child has already learned, and you read the rest from a script on screen.

What it is

Structured literacy, the explicit, step-by-step way of teaching reading that reading specialists use. Sounds come one at a time, in order, and each night builds on the last.

What a night looks like

- About 15 minutes, side by side.
- Every word you say is written for you.
- No ads, no racing clocks, nothing to buy inside the app.

Who it is for Children ages 3 to 18, including children who find reading hard. The Littles, for ages 3 to 4, is about 10 minutes of sound games and a shared story.

What it costs

7 days free. No card. After that, the founding family price is $29 a month or $299 a year, for the whole family, and it stays the same for as long as you're with us. Cancel anytime, on your own, in about a minute.

Try the first week free tonight.

anewpagereading.com

Choose "Start your free week". Some states let you pay with ESA or scholarship funds: anewpagereading.com/funding

Shared with you by

No ads. Never a recording, never sold. Your child's name stays on this device unless you choose to share a reader with another grown-up. A New Page is an educational program, not a diagnosis, therapy or a guarantee of results. Questions: jnclark@anewpagereading.com